LAKE COUNTY FLA.

An Interesting Letter From the South.

OKLAHOMA, LAKE COUNTY FLA., Aug. 24, 1887.
Please print the following short letter in your paper, for the benefit of its readers and my friends that have asked me to write a letter for it:

Lake County is situated in the central Florida and in the heart of the great orange belt and lake region; it is one of the richest counties in the State—having more large clear lakes than any other county; which are surrounded by fine hammock land and bearing orange groves, covered with their golden fruits. Florida is not all sunshine, as it has been represented to be by some of our fast writers; it has its serious draw-backs, and what new country you find that has not? How would the grand prairies of Texas, with their cold northerners; the rich valleys of California with superabundance of droughts, the grand plains of Colorado, devoid of water except at times when it comes in torrents, and overrun with hungry grasshoppers, have ever been made what we are excepting through toil and hardships, sometimes what Florida requires. I came here from the banner county of Kentucky (Old Christian) in the worst of all times, and a two years experience together with the facts that I have learned from others that have moved here from thirty States of the Union, have given me more and more assurance that her future greatness has not half been predicted and that it is a good country, considering everything as can be found, to those that like a mild climate. In earlier days before there were any railroads in this part of the peninsula the Florida or old settlers (as they are sometimes called) were content to tend cattle, raise cotton, corn, rice, sugar cane and potatoes. A few orange trees were planted near the house for ornaments and I am informed that when they moved to a new place that they moved their orange trees with them. But not so now, as the tide of emigration flooded to this part of Florida and far seeing men had planted groves—so the R. R. soon began to follow and now we have competing lines of roads running in all directions and we can ship our oranges to New York and other eastern cities for 25 cents per box. But when we turn to ship west it is more than three times that much.
The freight on oranges from here is $1.50 per box to Hopkinsville, not much over half as far as it is to New York. I would be glad to know that every man in Christian county would vote for the O. V. proposition and that there could be competing lines of railway running into Hopkinsville; so that we people in Florida could get flour from there as cheap as we can from St. Louis.

The race question in Georgia schools has about done the "kitchen work" for the Blair Educational Bill. The Legislature has shown that the people of that State are unalterably opposed to mixed schools, and in that opposition they have the sympathy and countenance of the white people of the whole South. This being apparent, many Republican supporters of the Blair Bill have announced that they will oppose it in future, and Senator Blair himself now says there little hopes that his measure will become a law. Every man in the country who has any regard for the Constitution and who believes in self-government owes a debt of gratitude to the Georgia Legislature.—Louis-

Twelve Years of Terrible Torture.

The gentleman who furnished us with the following case has been four years under the treatment of many physicians, and was dosed with all sorts of medicine, but without the least beneficial effects. Now, how he was finally cured and relieved from his internal suffering, is forcibly told in his own statement given below, to which we invite the earnest attention of all sufferers from the same dreadful affliction.

"I had been a tortured sufferer from articular and sciatic rheumatism for more than a dozen years—up to the year 1885. I had consulted various doctors and used multiform remedies without relief, or any apparent benefit. In 1885 I was taken afresh with the severest acute symptoms of this disease, in feet and legs and hips, which made me a helpless invalid—unable to work or walk, and I was in any way. I was miserable, helpless sufferer, and without hope of ever being cured. I had already exhausted my faith in doctor's remedies and now concluded to take Swift's Specific as a dernier hope.

"From the use of the first two bottles, I felt greatly benefited, which encouraged me to continue its use.
I steadily improved. The inflammation left my joints, disappeared, comfortable feeling was restored, my strength and flesh restored, and by the time I had taken two dozen bottles all my symptoms of rheumatism had entirely disappeared, and I felt well enough to resume my regular labors. I felt like a new man. I cannot attribute my miraculous and perfect cure to anything but the Swift Specific. I know that it alone cured me, for nothing else had done me any good for twelve years. I owe my restoration and strength for labor and religious duties alone to this grand remedy, and gladly make this statement for the benefit of all sufferers from this most torturing disease—rheumatism.

ENSILAGE FOR STOCK.

The Successful and Profitable Experiment Made by a Wisconsin Farmer.

I have fed ensilage to my cows, horses, hogs, turkeys and chickens, with the very best of results. I commenced feeding on the 24th of November, 1886, to my cows, all thoroughbred Holsteins and Jerseys, with the following results: Eight cows, most of them being nearly dry, were giving 100 pounds of milk per day; on the 30th of November, six days after feeding ensilage, the same cows gave 228 pounds of milk. Before feeding ensilage it took 22 pounds of milk to make a pound of butter; after feeding ensilage
pound of butter. I fed 80 pounds of ensilage per day and 4 pounds of middlings to each cow, and some hay and corn-stalks. Corn-meal should not be fed with ensilage; to get the best results, feed bran or middlings. My cows never did so well as they have done since this winter feeding ensilage. My young stock and dry cows gained in weight very rapidly on ensilage without any grain. When my ensilage was gone the cows in six days were short 72 pounds of milk a day, though their feed (meal) was nearly doubled, and they had hay and corn-stalks for coarse feed.
I have 20 Poland-China hogs that I fed on ensilage for three months, without any other feed, and I never had as thrifty a lot of pigs; I sold a number of them this spring for breeders and they gave good satisfaction.
I fed 65 bronze turkeys on ensilage alone, for three months, and they did better than any turkeys I ever had, both as respects health and weight. I fed my chickens successfully on ensilage. If poultrymen would feed ensilage to their stock they would get more eggs and less sick chickens during winters, when they are confined in their houses. I have fed ensilage to my horses, and it gives them a nice sleek coat, and keeps them in good condition. Horses and cattle will leave their meal and eat ensilage; and they ought to be good judges of what is good for them. Last fall I built a silo for an experiment; the coming fall I will build a larger one, for the dollars that it will save for me. If we can feed a cow on 7 to 10 cents per day, or if we can feed two cows on one acre, there is a new era dawning on us. We can feed 2 cows 365 days on one acre by planting corn and making ensilage of it. If we would take the hint, bogus butter or hard times would not trouble so very much.

I built my silo sideways into a hill alongside my barn. Size 12 by 32 feet and 11 feet high; plank floor; the studding is 2 by 4 inches, boarded on inside and outside, and filled in with chaff and cut straw. Used no paper on sides or top. Cut three loads of straw and chaff from the tail of threshing-machine and put it on top of ensilage, spread it evenly, and tramped it well along the sides and ends. Put planks on top and a few stones to keep them in place. Did not lose 50 pounds of ensilage. My silo is about half an under ground. The cattle will eat chaff and out straw, as well as ensilage.

I laid four sills, imbedded in the ground; put 14-foot planks crosswise, and then nailed a 2 by 4-inch scantling over the ends of the planks, and set my studding inside. This is cheap and strong; saves work and timber.

I made silo 2 inches wider at bottom than at top, so that the ensilage could settle evenly.—John Urquhart, in Prairie Farmer.

"The latest religious sect in Russia has been founded on the dogma that it is a sin to let a fellow member suffer the martyrdom of disease. Accordingly, when anybody falls sick, one of the believers goes to him and chokes him to death. The person commissioned for the deed is clad in red clothes, and is known as 'the red death.' Unfortunately, they do not confine their delicate attentions to the members of the sect alone, but, impelled by a broad charity, seek to cure in their peculiar way anyone, whoever he may be, who has the misfortune to become ill.—Brooklyn Eagle.

LAMINITIS IN HORSES.

Peculiarity of the Disease and How It May Be Successfully Treated.

Prof. Grange, of the Michigan Agricultural College, has recently issued a bulletin on laminitis, which will be of great value to farmers in remote districts. Laminitis is a disease of the hoof of the horse, which is often brought directly under the notice of the owners of these animals, and which, in many instances, from the want of knowledge of the causes of the complaint, unfortunate creatures are subjected to the most excruciating pain, and their owners to much pecuniary loss, as well as other inconveniences. The disease has from time to time been the subject of much difference of opinion as to its location, consequently it is known under a variety of names, given according to the fancy of the observer; but the one which we oftenest hear applied to it is chest founder, which term, however, is not altogether appropriate, but may, perhaps, be excused when taken into consideration the origin of it, and this can be traced to two sources.

In the first place it may have arisen from the fact that inflammation of the lungs is sometimes thought to fly from the chest to the feet, but this is of exceedingly rare occurrence, as far as my observation has gone. Secondly, it may have arisen from the fact that a large majority of cases brought under our notice have shown that those large round muscles, forming the front of the chest or bosom, and situated between the fore legs, have suddenly vanished as it were, giving the chest a sunken or hollow appearance, which, to the casual observer, might naturally be thought the seat of the disease.

The treatment of this disease materially depends upon the cause, and if it has been produced by spontaneous diarrhea or the abuse of purgative medicine, any thing which will tend to unduly increase the action of the bowels, should be carefully avoided, and those remedies which are used to allay pain and reduce fever may be given with advantage.

"For these purposes," says the professor, "I found great benefit from the use of tincture of aconite, given in doses of about ten to fifteen drops in a few ounces of water every two hours, until four or five doses have been given.
The aconite may be followed by nitrate of potash in two drachm doses, dissolved in half a pint of water every four hours, for from two to four days.
On the other hand, if the disease is the result of an over-drying of the bowels, the superfluous fluid may be gotten rid of by the aid of laxatives—say twenty-five fluid ounces of raw linseed oil will generally answer. The animal should not have any thing in the shape of solid food, such as hay or straw, for at least twenty-four hours after the oil is given, but the diet ought to be of a laxative nature; warm bran mashes and the like have a good effect.
When the laxative has done acting the nitrate of potash may be given as above.

"During the last two summers I have had occasion to treat a number of cases, the result of over-drying on very hot days, and have found very great benefit from the free use of nitrate of potash. I gave one and a half ounces in a pint of water every four hours until three doses had been given, then stopped for eight hours, when the doses were to be repeated. I would repeat a second time if the patient was not doing well; laxative food should be given and the animal allowed to drink some milk sparingly.

"The local treatment is of great importance and consists in the application of moisture, in the shape of water, to the feet, which may be applied in the manner most convenient, in moderate weather. I have found very beneficial effects from standing an animal in a stream of water for several hours a day, taking care, however, that their bodies were well protected from im-element weather or hot sun. When animals have a desire to lie down apply wet sawdust to the feet for several days, and have found very great benefit from the free use of nitrate of pot-
ash. I gave one and a half ounces in a
three doses had been given, then

How to Brew Tea.

The great cook, Alexis Loyer, in making tea first spreads it over a large dining plate and places it in the oven a few minutes. When the tea is hot and crisp, with a delicate fragrance extracted by the evaporation he put it into a large teapot and nearly filled with boiling water of the temperature which is sometimes called screaming hot. The teapot was then allowed to rest for five minutes on "the hot" with its spout looking out into the room (it inhales fire smoke if the handle face the spectator), and this was sufficient time for it to draw.
Never was better tea brewed and any person can make it.—Detroit Tribune.

"The particular office of flies appears to be the consumption of those dead and minute animals whose decaying myriads would otherwise poison the air. It was a remark of Linnaeus that three flies could consume a dead horse sooner than a lion could. He doubtless included the families of three flies. A single fly, the naturalist tells us, will consume in a few days, 30,000 larvae, each of which, in a few days, may be the parent of another 20,000, and thus the descendants of three flies will soon devour an animal much larger than the horse.—Boston Budget.

"The easiest way to get beer in credit, says the New York Sun, is to go to the Harlem river, put on a rowing suit, and paddle to one of the numerous floats where milk, rancheries, beer, and pie are sold, explain that your money is all in your clothes, and that you'll bring some change out with you next time. Not more than $1 credit is given to any one.

Homoeopathy as it Was, An Answer to Homoeopathy as it is.

In 1832 there were in the United States, in round numbers, 10,000 non-homoeopathic physicians. In 1880 there were 80,000, an increase of eight fold. In 1882 there was one homoeopathic physician in the United States. In 1880 there were 10,000 homoeopathic physicians, or one in every nine, an increase of 10,000 fold. What will be the ratio in 1900.

HERE AND THERE.

Cutting and housing tobacco is now in order.

A. W. Pyle, the furniture man, has started a mattress factory.

Rassett & Co.'s opening Saturday was a decided success.

A little son of Mr. Dock Boyd is quite sick with scarlet fever.

The New Era held its gift distribution yesterday afternoon in the city court room.

The Hopkinsville Public Schools opened yesterday with a full attendance.

The Colored Public School of the city opened last week with over 200 pupils in attendance.

A. W. Mencham, of Bellevue, sold 100 acres of his farm last week to W. E. Cox for $3,000.

Mrs. Clarence Anderson and daughter, Miss Genevieve, joined the Christian church Sunday.

New York Ideal Opera Co., opens our season Monday and Tuesday next. First night—"The Mikado."

South Kentucky College begins its fall session to-day. All of the other schools in the city have already opened.

FOR SALE—A house and lot on the corner of Third and Main streets. For particulars apply to B. F. Simmons.

Several tracts of land were sold for debt by the Master Commissioner yesterday, in front of the court house door.

The revival meeting at Sharon church, Bennetts town, closed Sunday. There were forty two professions and thirty six additions.

The protracted meeting at Liberty, near Beverly, closed Sunday. There were eight additions to the already large membership.

There was a large crowd in town yesterday and the merchants were kept busy all day. Good order was maintained throughout the day.

Mr. Frank B. Campbell, of the Bellevue neighborhood, who has been sick for several months with consumption, died on the night of the 4th inst. He leaves a family.

A man named Hamel or Hammond accidentally shot and killed a woman at Canton last Friday, whose name was not learned.

Mr. Bates Wall will shortly open a general merchandise establishment at Bryant's Station on the I. A. & T. Railroad, which will hereafter be known as Gracey.

C. G. Layne sold his fine stallion, Oscar Wilde, last Thursday to Mr. J. Allen, of South Christian, for $600. Oscar Wilde was by Membrino Forrest and was highly prized by Mr. Layne.

Mr. John Young, who was badly hurt by a horse, which fell on him, is out again. He was laid up three weeks and drew $25 per week from an accident insurance company during his disability.

Ike Parrish, the negro who killed George Taylor at Longview, is still at large and no special effort seems to be being made to capture him. He is supposed to be over the Tennessee line, not far from the scene of his crime.

The Cadiz Telephone gives this account of a case of suicide in Trigg county on Aug 25th: "On last Thursday morning Mrs. Sallie Walker, a daughter of Mr. C. H. Wallis, of this county, was found dead in a room in her father's house. She eloped with a man named W. T. Walker, who was her brother-in-law, within a few weeks after the death of Walker's wife, who was an older sister, and they reported that they had been married. This was in April, 1885. Sallie was only eighteen or nineteen years of age at that time, and was an exceedingly handsome girl. Walker afterwards got into some trouble, and was indicted in this county and moved away. We have been told that they removed to Illinois, in which State he and Sallie lived until June, 1885, when she left him. Since then she has, it is supposed, lived a roving life. She stopped at Nashville, Tenn., a while and was in the City Hospital from June, 1887, to the 1st of August, 1887, when she left there and came home, broken down in spirit and health, where she remained in ill health up to the time she ended her mortal existence by the use of chloroform."

If the Grand Jury will show a disposition to enforce the prohibition law, enough indictments can be found against all of the violators to break up their business and send them to jail indefinitely. But to do this it is necessary to go about the matter right. Do not rely upon the testimony of every Tom, Dick and Harry who would just so soon swear to a lie as not, but summon a dozen or two gentlemen who are in the habit of entering certain establishments and coming out wiping their mouths and have them to state on oath whether they have directly or indirectly bought liquor in violation of the law and some of them at least will tell the truth about it. After the indictments are found let petit juries do their duty and their whole duty and instead of encouraging other violations by a light penalty, let the guilty parties feel the full weight of the law they have trampled under foot. Much depends on the work of the present grand and petit juries and the people will watch closely to see what they will do to enforce the law that every citizen of the town knows is flagrantly violated every day in Hopkinsville.

BAINBRIDGE DISTRICT.

SINKING FORK, Ky., Sept. 3.—It has been a long time since I saw any items from our town.

It is very dry and hot. The dust is about 4 inches deep in the roads. Water has about all dried up in our town. Some people are hauling water a mile or so.

Great many farmers are cutting their little mite of tobacco and it is not a first rate article at that.

Mr. J. R. Darnell has been offered $3.00 per barrel for his new crop of corn in the field. There will not be more than half of a crop of corn raised in this neighborhood.

Rev. J. U. Spurlin is holding a protracted meeting at Brick church this week. His prospects for a good meeting are very flattering.

Married, Mr. James Burgess, of this county, to Miss Mollie Poundexter, of Trigg county.

Peach cuttings and moon light dances are all the go down here.

Miss May Wood is teaching the Public School at this place; she is an able teacher. Her daily attendance is about 40 pupils.

Miss Ella Reed, of Logan county, a brunette of sixteen summers is visiting relatives and friends in our town.

Miss Lella Hiser has gone to Mayfield, Ky., to enter the western Kentucky College at that place.

F. M. Stephens has rented a farm on the Princeton road belonging to your fellow-townsmen, Jno. T. Rickerts, for the handsome sum of $200 a year, for two years.

W. G. Higgins will soon have his new cottage done, and then for a big dance, Wiley.

George Quisenberry & Co. are boring a well for George Diuguid. Well-digging is a common thing out here now.

Your correspondent and wife, in company with Mrs. L. W. D. Hamby visited the branch Penitentiary at Eddyville, Ky., last Saturday.

Ball at Hamby's hall Saturday night, Sept. 10th. Good music will be made and supper can be had at the hall. Everybody is invited to come. Some more next week.

CROFTON.

Crofton, Ky., Sept. 4, 1887.—Murdock McIntosh, who was struck on the head with a rock by Mansfield McClellan col., last Monday is able to now be found at his shop. McClellan is yet a fugitive from justice.

The Methodist quarterly meeting is in session here now and many visiting members are present and are being entertained by the citizens.

This is the last quarterly meeting for this conference year, and the pastor in charge will no doubt be called to other fields of work. He has made many friends for the two years he has been here, by his liberal christian spirit with other denominations.

Bud Reynolds, who was found with the Cooley boys at the time of their arrest, and made his escape, was arrested by Ed Higgins, M. C., last night at Henry Reynolds'.

"Let her go Galagher" was in town last week shaking hands with his many friends and more hearts than one were happier for his being here.

Misses Morgan, of Greenville, Ky., are visiting their cousin, Miss Jennie Dulin.

The Crofton Academy has opened with very bright prospects for a prosperous year.

Mrs. Byron Williams, of Hartland, Kans., is visiting J. E. Croft.

O. A. West, Jr., is the champion dog killer of our town. He set two traps for dogs on Friday night in the twinkling of an eye.

Mrs. Susan Daugherty, of Clarksville, Tenn., is visiting friends here.

Prof. Thomas has been confined to his room for several days this week.

Croft Knight, who eloped with Miss Davis to Springfield, Tenn., last spring has abandoned his wife and gone to parts known to but few.

Buck.

A spiritualistic performance will be given at the Opera House this evening by Miss Nellie O. Davenport and other noted mediums. Skeptics are invited to come out and occupy front seats and be convinced that the spirits of the departed do return to earth. Small admission fee to defray expenses.

Excursion to Niagara.

One of the cheapest excursions ever known to the traveling public will leave Evansville at 11:30 a. m. on the morning of the 9th for Niagara Falls.

The fare for the round trip is only $8.50 and those who have never visited this place of note could not have a better opportunity offered. Mr. F. R. Wheeler, the gentlemanly traveling passenger agent, will accompany the excursion the entire trip, and do all in his power to add to the pleasure and comfort of the excursionists.

Parlor chair seats will be sold for $2 round trip and sleeping car berths for two persons for $5, round trip. For any further information call at this office.

The Hopkinsville Petroleum and Fuel Co. completed its organization last week. The stockholders met and elected as directors, Judge R. T. Petree, Dr. W. G. Wheeler and Messrs. C. A. Thompson, J. M. Howe and M. L. Lipscomb.

Purely a Love Match.

Julia—I hear that you are engaged to be married.

Marvin—Yes, it's a fact, and my future husband is the handsomest and best of men.

"Then it's purely a love match, I suppose?"

"Oh entirely so, entirely."

"Has he got money?"

"What an absurd question. Of course he has got money—lots of it."

—Texas Siftings.

"I always build my fences when the horns of the moon point up and stake and rider it when the horns point down; the two draw together and my fence never falls. The moon should govern us in all our operations. Our school is a medicine with my advice, was roofed in the light of the moon, and last winter nearly all the children had the measles, and now the roof is leaking badly."—Harris Gildate.

—Two lions in a menagerie in Cornwall, England, lately died of excessive heat.

Useful and Harmful Medicines.

There is a certain class of remedies for constipation absolutely useless. These are balms and ointments made in great part of opothyllin, aloes, rhubarb, gamboge, and other worthless ingredients. The damage they do to the stomachs of those who use them is incalculable. They evacuate the bowels, but do not move the contents, and, therefore, the contents are not expelled, but are retained in the stomach, and the system is thereby injured. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the delicate effect of which is never preceded by pain, or accompanied by a convulsion, is a medicine which invigorates the stomach and the entire system. As a means of curing and preventing malarial fevers, no medicine can compare with it, and it remedies nervous debility, rheumatism, kidney and bladder inactivity, and other inorganic ailments.

APOLOGY.

We feel that an apology is due you for the poor service you received at our hands on "Our Opening Day." The rush was such that we were unable to show you proper attention. Our force was not half large enough to wait on the crowds that thronged our store. Some possible errors may have occurred and we will cheerfully rectify any such. If you will kindly return to us.

We have made arrangements for more salesmen and propose to increase our force until it is large enough to meet the demands of the trade.

Trouble Ahead.

When the appetite fails, and sleep grows restless and unrefreshing, there is trouble ahead. The digestive organs, when healthy, crave food, the nervous system, when vigorous and efficient, gives its possessor no uneasiness at night. A tonic, to be effective, should not be a mere appetizer, nor the nerves to be strengthened and soothed by the unaided action of a sedative or a narcotic. When the stomach is a medicine which invigorates the stomach, and promotes assimilation of food by the system, by which means the nervous system, as well as other parts of the physical organism, are invigorated. These are the effects of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a medicine whose reputation is founded firmly in public confidence, and which physicians commend for its tonic, anti-bilious and other properties. It is used with their results in fever, ague, rheumatism, kidney and uterine weakness, and other maladies.
